

THE BEST CBD OIL KEEPS CUSTOMERS COMING BACK

How Terpenes Impact the Effectiveness of CBD Oil

The lifeblood of any business comes from repeat customers. When you deliver the best CBD product to good customers you gain an edge your competitors can only envy. What it comes down to is: “You are only as good as the product you carry, so carry the best.”

What Makes the Best CBD effective?

The short answer is “quality”, and quality starts in the fields. The soil, the farming methods, and most importantly, how the harvested hemp plant is readied for production.

All of these activities preserve the terpenes in the hemp plant. The terpenes enhance the “entourage effect.” that allows full-spectrum CBD products to be much more potent.

Have you ever had a customer smell the CBD oil you carry and remark, “Wow that smells like weed?” No? Hempsi™ customers say it all the time.

It’s the terpenes! First you smell the difference, then you taste the difference, then you experience it!

The problem is many companies dry their hemp flower after harvest and it loses most of its beneficial qualities. The production process then has to add back in artificially what was once there naturally.

The quality of the CBD oil suffers and customers who use it say things like, “I didn’t notice any difference taking this.” Or, “I heard this stuff was supposed to work.”

Freezing Makes the Difference

The solution is to flash freeze the hemp flower in the field, within one to two hours of harvest.

Reid Stewart, CEO of Hempsi™ explains it this way: “It is impossible through science to replicate what nature does in the field. The taste, the smell, and the intricacies of the plant cannot be replicated later, and the only way to harness them is by flash freezing the fresh hemp plant.”

Hempsi™ uses the latest hydrocarbon extraction technology. During extraction, the chambers reach negative 110 degrees, gently releasing the trichomes from the flower. This additionally eliminates the need for further filtration or winterization.

Stewart said, “When our third-party lab partner tested our extract, we were thrilled! Our LIVE OIL™ has a strong, wide range of cannabinoids and a jaw-dropping level of terpenes.”

Starting with carefully curated high-CBD, terpene-rich, USDA-certified organic strains of hemp exclusive to Hempsi™, the plants are raised with care on a fourth-generation family farm in Oregon.

The flowers are meticulously hand-picked 15% earlier than traditional methods, as this is the apex of terpene production, giving our oil a broader profile with maximum flavor, rich aromas and a range of benefits.”

The Entourage Effect

If you have customers who want the best CBD, then the terpenes in the CBD oil you sell really matters because it is the terpenes that work in tandem with cannabinoids to enhance their effectiveness.

That's the "entourage effect."

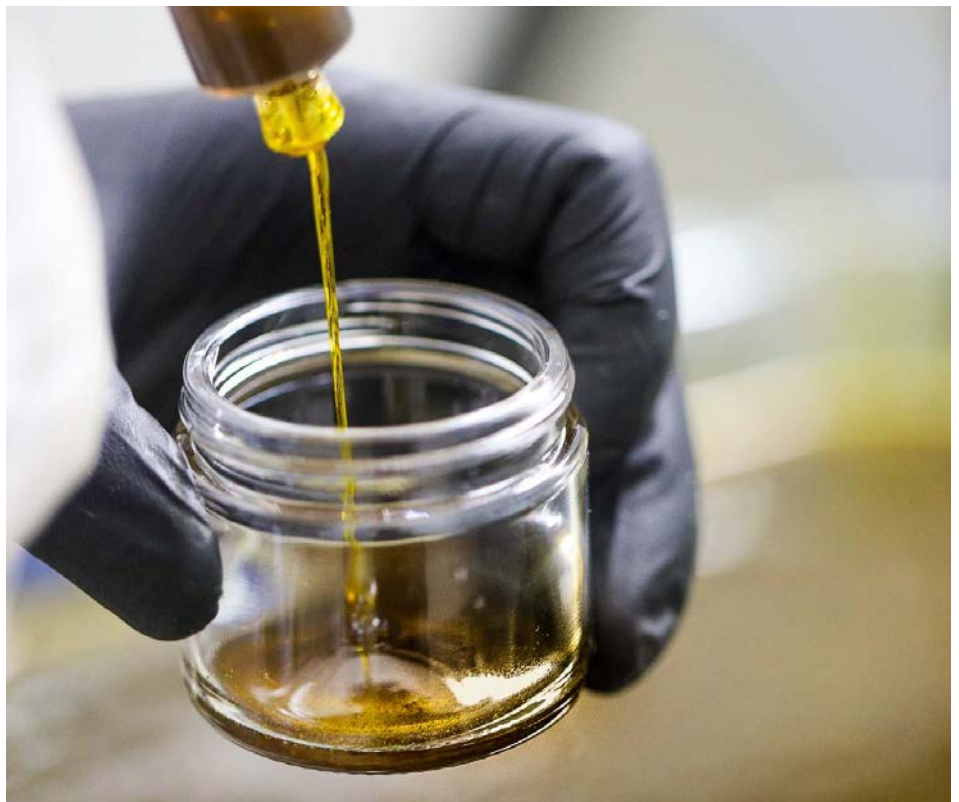

The Certificate of Analysis done on Hempsi™ CBD oil shows consistently high levels of terpenes with aromas that include hops, orange, cinnamon, pine and many more.

One Hempsi™ reseller recently said, "Hempsi™ has the highest quality CBD oil wholesale that we've ever purchased. Thank you for keeping our business alive and for being the best CBD manufacturer we have ever worked with!"

A Competitive Edge

If you are serious about carrying a high-quality CBD oil that will make a difference in the lives of your customers, then everything that goes into making that oil is important.

Hempsi™ offers a truly one-of-a kind premium CBD oil that is grown on a USDA certified organic farm in Oregon, where the hemp flower is flash frozen within one to two hours of harvest and produced into a Whole Flower LIVE OIL™ using a hydrocarbon method.

Great care is taken to preserve the beneficial properties of the hemp plant so it can become the most effective CBD oil your customers have ever used.

"Smell, taste and experience the Hempsi™ LIVE OIL™ difference!"

"LIVE IS BEST"

Whole Flower LIVE OIL™

Hempsi™ Whole Flower LIVE OIL™ is the highest quality and most potent cannabinoid concentrate on the market.

Hempsi's™ LIVE OIL™ is, quite simply, the best.

Contact us now for a sample of our exclusive full-spectrum hemp extract LIVE OIL™.

You'll love it. Promise.

www.HempsiReseller.com

(844) 443-6774 | sales@hempsi.com