

“LIVE IS BEST”

Smell, Taste & Experience the Difference...

Hempsi's™ High CBD, Whole Flower Full-Spectrum Hemp Extract is a Game Changer “The Secret is in the FREEZING”

Hempsi™ has perfected the harvest, storing and processing of delicate hemp trichomes, preserving the widest spectrum of undisturbed cannabinoids and full range of terpene scents and effects, to deliver the maximum benefit of the ‘entourage effect.’ We call this premium extract Hempsi™ Whole Flower LIVE OIL™.

It starts with carefully curated high CBD, terpene-rich USDA Certified Organic RNA® hemp exclusive to Hempsi™, raised with care on a fourth-generation family farm in Oregon.

The flowers are meticulously hand-picked 15% earlier than traditional methods, as this is the apex of terpene production, giving our oil a broader profile with maximum flavor, rich aromas and a range of benefits.

The pivotal step is the immediate freezing of the flowers; within 2 hours of harvest our buds are flash frozen at negative 200 degrees Fahrenheit.

Much like the fruit industry, this method immediately stops further maturity and preserves the fragile compounds, including the full range of beneficial cannabinoids, which degrade quickly when exposed to heat; and sought-after terpenes, which will evaporate.

The plants remain frozen until the Hempsi™ extraction lab is ready to process. We use the latest hydrocarbon extraction technology, a closed loop system with a proprietary technique which leaves zero residuals.

During extraction, the chambers reach an industry-leading negative 110 degrees Fahrenheit, gently releasing the trichomes from the flower. This method additionally eliminates the need for further filtration or winterization.

Extraction from frozen hemp has been proven to provide the highest consistency in final concentrated product output, given the elimination of variables from field to lab.

Finally, as our plant remains frozen until extraction, Hempsi can provide our Live Oil™ at any time of year, removing restrictions of farming cycles and keeping product fresh and consistent long after harvest.
